ANNUAL REPORT

2019

Summary

The Institute for Development Policy - INDEP since its establishment in 2011 has a clear mission: to strengthen and lead sustainable socio-political and economic development, always based on the principles of democracy and democratic values. Our vision is to achieve a democratic society, which is capable of running a functioning and well-integrated state. Our work is guided by the basic principles of transparency and accountability. Based on these guiding principles, INDEP has completed the 8th year of its establishment with great success and we have implemented a total of 10 projects.

Burim EJUPI

Executive Director, INDEP

As Director of INDEP, I am pleased that in this annual report we are revealing our successes, initially as a Kosovar think-tank, whose work is reflected throughout many processes and is sometimes conditioned by the pace of the processes in which we participate and they also move on more slowly than what we would prefer, but also as part of civil society in Kosovo. Every year and more, our work is getting stronger and our contribution is being recognized and this makes us very proud but also grateful. This motivates us to keep working even harder in the next upcoming years. INDEP also thanks our partners, donors, without whom our work would have been much more deficient. We believe that the partnerships we have created will continue as we all share the same goal - a better Kosovo for all of us.

Our donor-funded projects have been implemented in three INDEP program areas: democratic governance, sustainable development and regional cooperation. In general, we as INDEP have advocated for sustainable policies, inclusive and democratic governance, gender equality, the inclusion of sustainable development objectives, green energy, the promotion of long-term reforms in many sectors, accountability and that which will consequently lead to overall development.

During this year, INDEP has conducted 24 publications, 2 translations, 1 curriculum, 1 conference report, 3 modules, 11 workshops, 16 focus groups, 14 press conferences, 14 roundtables, has held 2 campaigns, 13 media presentations, 11 info sessions, 8 international presentations and has launched 18 audiovisual materials, has given 42 grants, has participated in 6 public consultations, has had about 2,500 participants in activities and has been reached on social media from 150,000 people.

In the program of democratic governance, INDEP has continued the cooperation with the Assembly of Kosovo, has assisted parliamentary committees, has contributed to the pension reform in Kosovo, has been active in the field of energy - has campaigned against the construction of the New Kosovo power plant, has analyzed security has worked in the field of gender equality by publishing a paper and holding three modules in this field, has been an active part in public consultations held by the Ministries of Kosovo, has reacted to many different issues ranging from anti-corruption and nepotism to the search for radical reforms in education., has given grants to increase transparency at the local level, has published works in the field of academy, and has worked in the field of media education.

In the sustainable development program, INDEP participated in NCEP, co-organized the Sustainable Development Week in Kosovo, held conferences and roundtables on energy transition, worked on localizing the 2030 Agenda and raising awareness of SDG, has published papers on the situation of Kosovo in terms of SDG, has worked with MPs on SDG, has published papers on the environment - animal protection and air quality in Kosovo, has held workshops on youth awareness related with climate change, has provided grants that support the field of green energy, improving the state of the environment.

In the regional cooperation program, INDEP has participated in various conferences inside and outside the country, the topics of which are related to the two previous INDEP programs. Also, INDEP has been present in the local media, especially with the two main campaigns it has held, the one against the construction of the Kosova e Re power plant and the campaign for raising awareness about SDG.

INDEP continues the same in 2020, with a focus on the three programs since we consider that only in this form, we can achieve a lasting impact. The following report explains in detail the activity of INDEP in 2019.

About us

The Institute for Development Policy (INDEP), established in 2011 as an association of policy analysts, researchers and civil society activists, is a research institute and advocacy center that provides strategic public policy solutions. INDEP, as a think-tank, achieves this based on independent research aimed at creating a democratic state based on the principles of sustainable development.

Therefore, INDEP's work focuses on development policies, providing a substantive vision for Euro-Atlantic integration. In Kosovo, where it operates, INDEP has a special focus on strengthening democratic governance and plays the role of public policy overseer.

INDEP activities continue this year to be based on three interrelated programs, which simultaneously serve as pillars of the operational structure of the institute. INDEP's three main programs are democratic governance, sustainable development, and regional cooperation.

Main Programs of INDEP

Within the program of democratic governance, INDEP aims to develop the most sustainable and comprehensive public policies. To achieve the objectives of this program, INDEP works closely and directly with decision-makers at the legislative and executive levels. Research compiled during 2019 was accompanied by various advocacy methods focusing on topics such as the rule of law, gender equality, etc.

While in the sustainable development program, INDEP continues to promote economic development which supports genuine social, policy, and environmental conditions. As in previous years, INDEP under this program focused on the energy sector. Although 2018 was a year in which work focused specifically on the development of renewable energy, during 2019, INDEP worked on energy transition and the promotion of renewable resources. The work done in this direction and the sufficient contribution given for 8 years already, made INDEP in the coming years to focus on two other points; one will be the elaboration of how this sector contributes to climate change and the second will discuss consumer protection in development sectors such as energy, oil and mining and minerals.

The third, but not less important, program of regional cooperation has the main goal of integrating the circumstances in which Kosovo finds itself in the regional context. During 2019, INDEP represented Kosovo in numerous international conferences which discussed topics such as local governance, sustainable development, energy sector, various economic issues, etc.

In terms of internal organization of the organization, INDEP, in addition to increasing the capacity of current staff, grew with new members who throughout the year were involved in the projects of the organization and at the same time expanded their knowledge on topics that our work focuses most. . By adding staff, INDEP increases the likelihood that the impact will be even greater. INDEP has successfully completed 2019 and with this report reveals the significant successes of INDEP. We emphasize that during 2019 INDEP staff has held many other activities, advocacy, constructive participation in public consultations, has worked closely with many other partner organizations, and has been a strong contributing voice of civil society in Kosovo.

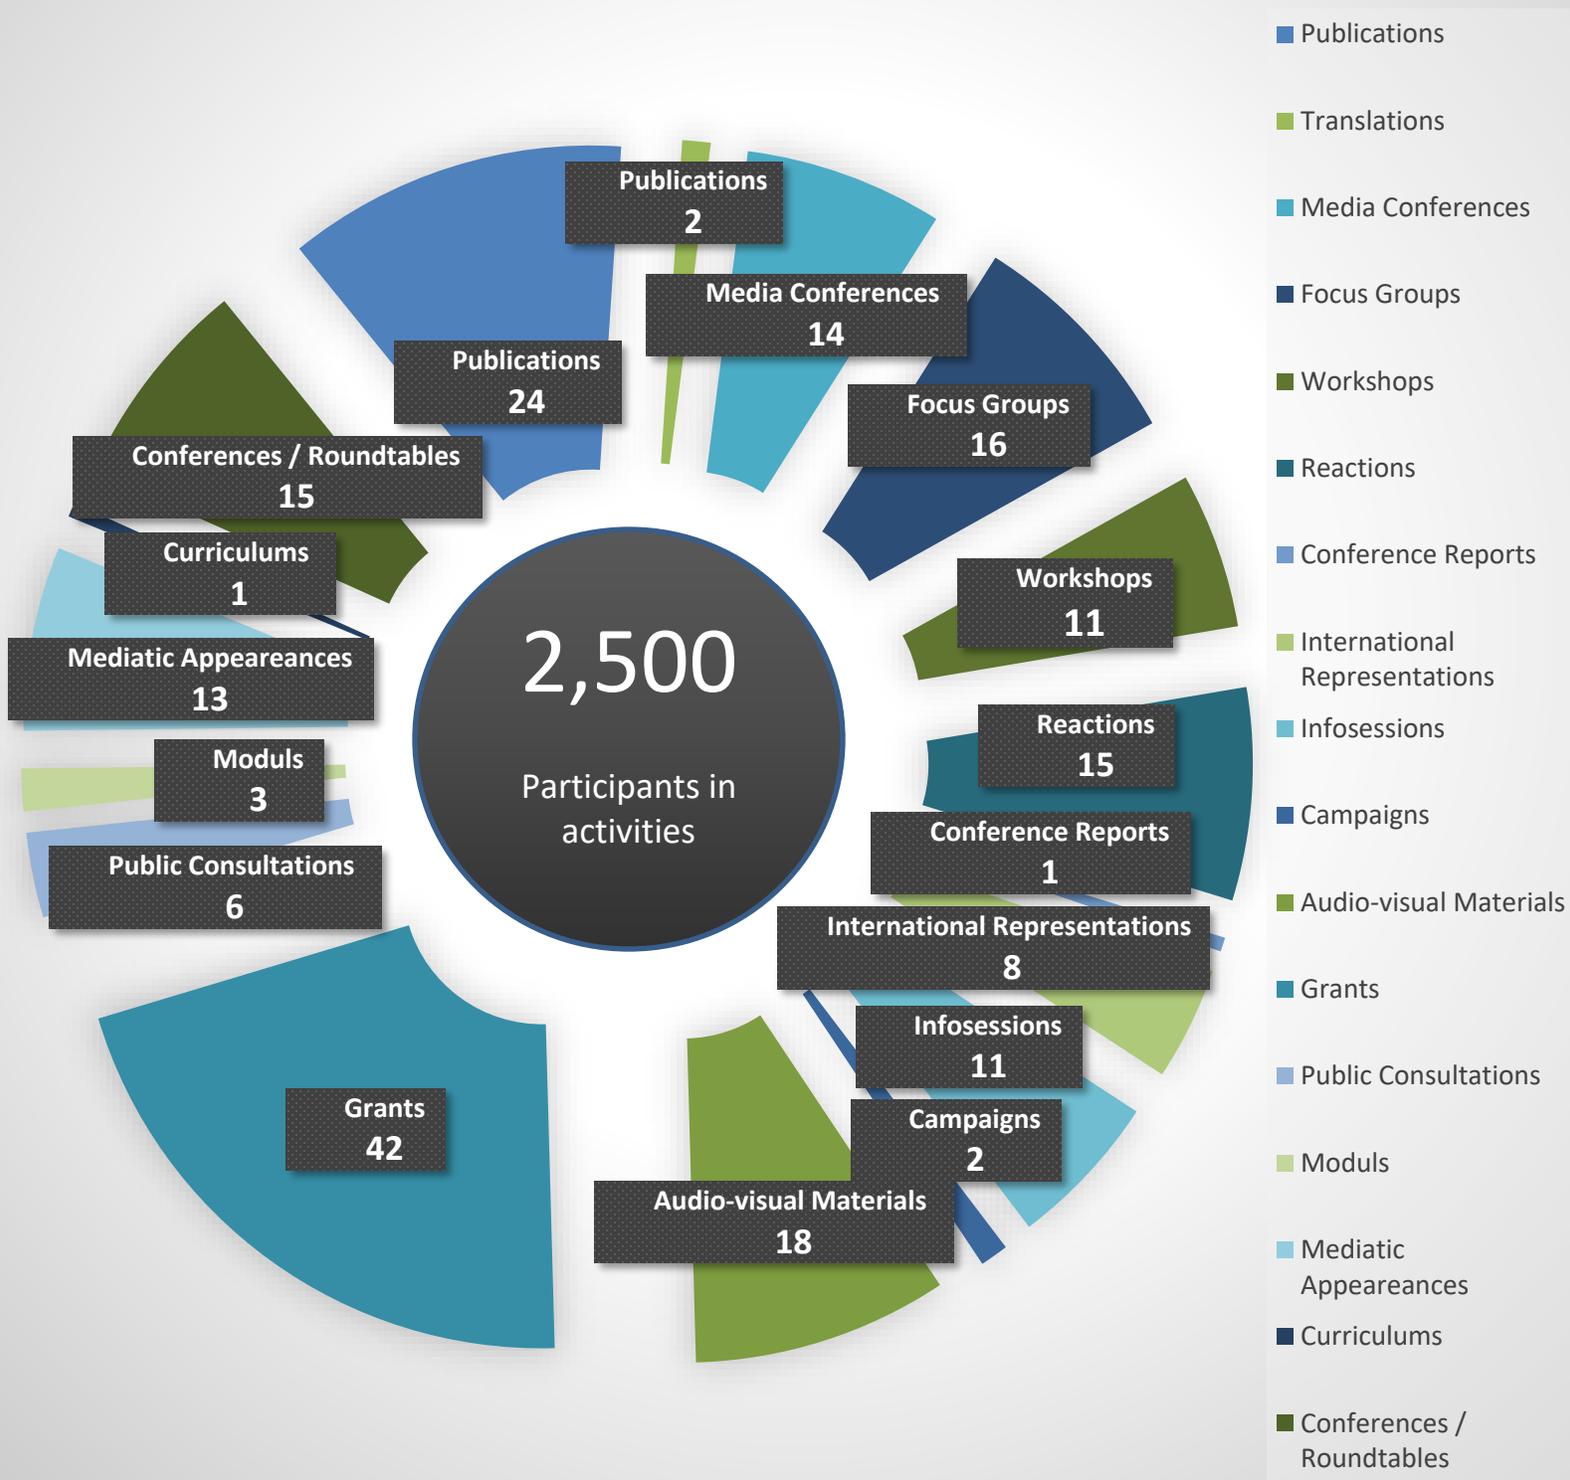

In order for the INDEP mission to be fulfilled and to provide strategic solutions for public policies, we compile independent research through which we propose recommendations with the aim of creating a more functional and democratic state. Publications based on ethical and detailed research, constitute the strongest advocacy tool of INDEP, therefore INDEP dedicates a lot of time and staff in compiling these publications. Publications made by INDEP are credible and always provide good examples of public policy, exploring the practices of developed countries adapted to the Kosovo context. During 2019 alone, INDEP has published 24 papers under 3 programs on which our work focuses, 2 Translations and 1 Conference Report¹ (for a full list of publications, see Annex A). These papers discuss various topics ranging from the energy sector, women in decision-making positions, environmental protection, reviews of consultative documents, etc.

INDEP proudly presents the figures below. One of the biggest figures that INDEP has achieved in the 8th year of operation is a very high "reach" from its activities, especially the penetration with video promotions and various infographics, created by INDEP staff in collaboration with various companies of the country. INDEP concludes that it has managed to reach up to 150,000 citizens through feedback, citations, campaigns, activities and materials released by INDEP. Most of this reach comes from INDEP social networks. INDEP also had more than 2,500 participants in its activities.

In continuation, this report reveals the work done during 2019, divided according to the program areas of INDEP: Democratic Governance, Sustainable Development and Regional Cooperation. Most of the activities in 2019 were carried out within projects funded by various donors (for a complete list of INDEP donors, see Donors).

INDEP in numbers during 2019

Democratic Governance

INDEP believes that democratic governance is the basis of a democratic, just and inclusive state. Therefore, INDEP has a good part of its work directed to this program. As in previous years, this year INDEP has worked hard in this direction. Advocacy, cooperation with the Assembly of the Republic of Kosovo, meetings with politicians, MPs, members of Committees within the Assembly and other actors from decision-making, campaigns and specifically campaigns against the construction of the Power Plant "Kosova e Re", work in the field of gender equality, reactions, as well as public policy recommendations are the main components of this program for 2019.

As a form of advocacy, INDEP since its establishment in 2011 has used meetings and direct advocacy with actors from decision-making institutions. For this, INDEP has established correct and cooperative relations with many MPs, politicians, members of Committees within the Assembly to whom it constantly advocates for the advancement of democratic processes, sustainable policies, as well as advancing the installation of democratic decision-making forms.

Advocating, during 2019 INDEP has held 18 workshops with more than 400 participants, which were attended by ordinary citizens, experts in various fields, members and representatives of small organizations from many countries of Kosovo, students, as and independent activists. INDEP considers that through workshops and trainings, advocacy for topics that are in the common good of the citizens and our country will be expanded and thus will create a wider network of action. INDEP believes that change comes from the bottom up, so in this regard workshops and trainings are crucial to achieve positive change and higher citizen participation in democratic decision-making processes.

In order to have an impact on the design and drafting of public policies, INDEP uses public documents and consultations as a tool to make a difference in our society. The document for establishing the public service obligation for security of supply² focuses initially on the legal basis for imposing a tax on security of supply and on the role of ERO and its responsibilities towards the contract signed by the Government of Kosovo. Next, we have analyzed the effects that this tax has in terms of domestic and European provisions on state aid and regional integration and market liberalization. Finally, we have treated security of supply as a concept and how much it has actually been addressed with this initiative of ERO.

In public consultations, during 2019 INDEP has participated in several public consultations. Among the most successful consultations was the Draft Concept Paper for the Field of Precious Metals³. Out of 8 comments, 5 were fully accepted by the Ministry of Trade and Industry. INDEP is now awaiting the report on the comments sent to the "Draft Law on Amending and Supplementing the Law No. 04 / L-147 on Kosovo Waters"⁴ by the Ministry of Environment and Spatial Planning.

⁴<https://konsultimet.rks-gov.net/viewConsult.php?ConsultationID=40794>

Continuing with the other consultation document, ERO's consultative report on the solar photovoltaic support mechanism for RES objectives (20 MW), in which INDEP initially analyzed the legal basis for drafting Administrative Instruction 05/2017 and increasing the objectives of which Instruction implements this ERO document. This is because the ERO document is a direct legal consequence of Instruction no. 05/2017. Then the material of the document was analyzed where with special emphasis we analyzed the elements that influenced the determination of the value that was proposed and at the end, conclusions and recommendations were given.

INDEP reacted on various issues that violated the rule of law, the functioning of our democratic state, and the well-being of citizens in general (for a full list of answers, see Annex B). Earlier this year, INDEP raised its voice for teacher strikes by opposing cosmetic pay increases and initially calling for radical reforms for a fair and balanced system of salaries and bonuses in the public sector.

"100 mijë euro në vit vetëm për pagat e stafit të Ndërmarrjes së Re Energjetike"

Following the reactions on topics affecting the energy sector, INDEP opposed the document "Implementation of the Public Service Obligation for Security of Supply" of the Energy Regulatory Office (ERO).

This initiative was considered contradictory to the constitutional role that ERO has, contrary to local and European laws and which aimed to legitimize the destructive contract for the construction of the power plant "Kosova e Re". Furthermore, INDEP has opposed the decision of the support mechanism for renewable energy sources in the amount of 90.5 EUR. This is due to the lack of legality for its imposition and the very high level of the price of the proposed tariff. A great success is considered for INDEP when ERO has taken the decision to approve the RES support mechanism in the amount of EUR 85.5. Through our reaction and after avoiding the 90.5 EUR fee, we have saved over 2 million euros in the Kosovo budget.

Within the Democratic Governance program, during 2019, INDEP appealed to various local and international institutions, as well as the Prosecution of the country, for the protection of human rights and all those responsible for the protection of the constitutional and legal order to take immediate measures to prevent illegal and discriminatory employment in the public administration. In addition to public administration, INDEP also opposed other political and illegal appointments to energy sector institutions. Various concerns were also expressed about the attempt to politicize state institutions, which refused to employ scholarship holders educated at prestigious European universities, and instead to make public employment on a partisan basis. For this reason, INDEP has requested the immediate cancellation of public vacancies in these institutions, the employment of scholarship holders and the cancellation of any illegal measures against the civil service.

Since 2012, INDEP has assisted parliamentary committees. During 2019, INDEP has drafted the analysis for the level of implementation of law no. 05 / L-085 on Electricity. The analysis revealed that the law has so far found only partial implementation. The market liberalization process that is at the core of this law has stalled and a number of consumer rights have not yet been implemented. The INDEP analysis came at the request of the Parliamentary Committee on Economic Development, Infrastructure, Trade, Industry and Regional Development, as part of the Assembly's monitoring of Law implementation.

In addition to nepotism in the recruitment process, INDEP, as in the following years, has raised its voice on corruption topics. INDEP has consistently welcomed feedback on this issue from other local and international institutions, and has supported the US Embassy in Kosovo's response to Kosovo's justice failures against high-profile corruption scandals. The justice system, apart from large investments and the constant increase of salaries, is constantly failing to sanction corruption and organized crime that is already becoming open in Kosovo. Therefore, INDEP will continue to call for this society not to be deprived of a justice system that makes meritorious and fair decisions.

Our advocacy during 2019 included the field of justice, where we had the opportunity to discuss the Federal Constitution of the Swiss Confederation⁵ which is used as a model in the world, and in this case Kosovo can take some parts of this constitution and adapt to the current In In the framework of this conference, which was attended by representatives of the academy, students, and representatives of civil society, in addition to the work, the translation of the Constitution of the Swiss Confederation into English and Serbian was offered.

These materials will help students of the Faculty of Law over the years. INDEP, targeting law students, not only in Kosovo, but also in the region, compiled a guide to the Swiss Constitution, which occupies a special place in constitutional law programs in law faculties. Moreover, this analysis has enriched the existing literature in the Albanian language for judges, prosecutors, lawyers, etc., regarding the Swiss constitutional experiences, through which local constitutional experts will be able to address from a constitutional point of view important issues. in the processes of constitutional change in the Republic of Kosovo.

Another form of advocacy for our proposals is the organization and holding of various conferences and roundtables. During 2019, INDEP organized 10 of them with speakers from different sectors and about 760 participants directly involved. At the beginning of the year, INDEP gathered representatives of the public sector, such as MPs, Deputy Ministers, gender equality officials at the local level, etc., where they discussed the current level and importance of women's involvement in decision-making processes in public sector institutions in Kosovo. The conference held in March⁶ concluded that women in decision-making bring more responsibility, less corrupt practices and higher performance.

As part of the Democratic Governance program and the project promoting women in governance and the economy, INDEP published the newspaper

"Women in Decision-Making in Public Institutions in Kosovo"⁷, which is a direct result of conversations with 22 women working in public institutions in decision-making positions. in Kosovo. The challenges they face are mainly of a cultural, political and legal nature. Although there have been improvements in the last 10 years, women usually do not feel equal in Kosovo society. The first part of the paper provides information on the trends of women's participation in the period 2008 to 2018. The paper goes beyond the numbers to identify the challenges and opportunities addressed by women working in public institutions. Furthermore, the research includes a discussion of what Kosovo can learn from neighboring countries and how it can draw practical examples for Kosovo's public institutions.

The novelty for 2019 was that INDEP held the "Kosovo School for Girls Aiming at the Civil Service"⁸. This academy brought together 15 young girls, at the age from 16 to 23 years, then selected the application and selection procedures. The Academy in 2019 was held in 3 separate modules:

1. Women in decision-making positions of institutions at the governmental level
2. Women in decision-making positions in public enterprises and independent agencies
3. Women in leadership positions at the local level

The idea of the academy was to unite women holding senior / managerial positions in the public sector with young girls / students aspiring to join public institutions in the future. The academy was an excellent opportunity for participants to learn directly from the experiences of women in these leadership positions. Moreover, the academy was also a mentoring scheme, through which mentors

PROBLEMET DHE POTENCIALI I TYRE REAL

Regarding the issues of renewable resources, INDEP published the newspaper "Hydropower plants in Kosovo: Problems and their real potential⁹", which aimed to analyze the general situation of the hydropower sector in Kosovo, the real potential of these projects, impacts and main problems . This paper mentions the existing hydropower plants in the country, those that are planned to be built, the problems and the real impact of these hydropower plants on the environment, as well as the concerns related to these constructions by local communities, both social and political, economic conditions and environmental.

In the field of media education, INDEP has published "Media Education and Information: A Curriculum for Teachers"¹⁰. This is a special achievement for this year as the topic of media education has been touched very little by civil society in the past in Kosovo. This curriculum will be very useful for Kosovo teachers.

Also, in the field of media and regulation of this sector, on the occasion of the Global Week for Media Education and Information (EMI), a week marked annually by UNESCO, the Institute for Development Policy (INDEP) in cooperation with the Independent Media Commission (IMC) organized a roundtable on "Media Regulators and Media and Information Education (EMI)". This roundtable was attended by representatives of the IMC, international organizations such as the OSCE and UNESCO, representatives of the media and civil society. The purpose of the roundtable was that in the framework of Global EMI Week, actors could present their views on media education and discuss the progress made in this area. Also, in this roundtable was discussed about the forms and activities in which different actors can be engaged: raising public awareness on media education, empowering media users, addressing regulatory challenges and protecting constitutional values. As part of EMI engagements, INDEP together with other project actors have held 7 trainings with 35 teachers each in EMI. These trainings have proven to be very effective as teachers now train their students in this area. To learn more about this project, follow the official website created and maintained by INDEP for MILClicks¹¹.

INDEP has advocated for pension system reforms in Kosovo for three years. In this line, INDEP has published three papers during 2018 related to pension reform:

- Kosovo Pension System: Challenges and Opportunities,
- Pension reform: Alternatives are not lacking, which is right?
- Pension reform: The way to go

As a continuation of the contribution to the pension reforms, in 2019, INDEP has organized a Workshop on the Kosovo pension system, entitled "Pension system reform in Kosovo", which brought together members of the Assembly of the Republic of Kosovo, representatives of the Ministry of Finance, the Ministry of Labor and Social Welfare and the Kosovo Pension Trust. This workshop also had direct contacts with World Bank representatives in Washington DC and other key stakeholders. Also, INDEP has organized 7 focus groups with 118 participants. The effect of this project can be broadcast live on the soon-to-be-drafted pension reform in Kosovo. So far, INDEP comments on pensions have been taken into account by up to 70%.

In the field of democratic governance, INDEP in 2019 has awarded 7 grants¹². These grants seek to increase the accountability and transparency of Kosovo's local public institutions at the local level, for different municipalities. This is the continuation of the platform launched by INDEP years ago, INVESTOMETR. The main purpose of INVESTOMETR is to inform citizens about the management of capital investments in the respective municipalities, enabling them to be involved in direct monitoring and activities of the responsible municipal bodies. INDEP also awarded 15 grants to 15 civil society organizations up to 4,900 euros¹³. The areas of grants have been rule of law, youth and environmental protection.

Campaign Against the Construction of the "Kosova e Re" Power Plant

One of the main and most important activities for INDEP during 2019 has been "Campaign against the Construction of the New Kosovo Power Plant"¹⁴. Kosovo and its citizens will have to pay € 185 million a year or € 3.7 billion over 20 years for this project. The money for the subsidy will come from the Kosovo budget and increased electricity tariffs so that the new public company NKEC will honor the contract for 20 years. Subsidizing 3.7 billion euros over 20 years from the Kosovo budget means less investment in infrastructure, security, education and health. INDEP has also raised ongoing concerns about the government-owned public company NKEC, established as an intermediary between Contour Global (a private investor) and the Kosovo energy market, which is forced to acquire 100 percent of TEC Kosova's capacity. young. Analyzing the financing structure, it was estimated that about 910 million euros will be financed through loans and 390 million will be financed through private investments, which means that Contour Global is expected to raise 270 million euros in just one year or 69 percent of them. private investment.

¹² Grants were awarded under the project 'INVESTOMETRY - Ensuring transparency and accountability in public spending on capital investments at the local level' funded by the National Endowment for Democracy (NED)

According to our assessments and studies, the 'New Kosovo' project would be a heavy burden on the shoulders of the citizens and the state of Kosovo. A contract in which a private operator (Contour Global) is guaranteed profit and eliminates risks, covers all initial costs and is guaranteed to purchase the product without reservation for 20 consecutive years, is nothing more than putting public potential and capital in profit function of a private company. The contract, therefore, violates the Constitution and legislation that protects free competition and market equality and as such should be annulled.

Furthermore, the whole process for the development of this project was accompanied by non-transparency, legal violations and changes in the tender conditions contrary to the Law on Public Procurement, and contrary to the decision of the Assembly of Kosovo no.03-V -272. of 1 April 2010 for the approval of the Energy Strategy 2009-2018. Therefore, INDEP has demanded the immediate withdrawal from the contract for the construction of this power plant, because this will bankrupt Kosovo economically, will disable the liberalization and integration of the electricity market, and represents a decisive blow to the environment, health and human rights.

In addition to the feedback, INDEP has also filed numerous complaints, such as the one in cooperation with other local non-governmental organizations and the CEE Bankwatch Network to the Energy Community¹⁵, namely the dispute resolution mechanism challenging the legality of the energy purchase agreement for the energy project planned based on coal New Kosovo. The complaint stated that the 20-year energy purchase agreement, signed by the Kosovo government with Contour Global in December 2017, failed to comply with the rules of the Energy Community Treaty on state aid, because it offers Contour Global a host of benefits. which give it an unfair advantage over other energy producers. A great success is considered the moment when after the complaint, the Secretariat of the Energy Community at the end of December announced that it has officially opened a contentious procedure against the Government of Kosovo stating that it, by signing the contract for construction of the power plant "Kosova e Re" has violated domestic and European state aid legislation. The secretariat found that certain aspects of the contract such as the purchase for 20 years of energy availability under the power purchase agreement, transfer of ownership, state guarantees, VAT exemption and other benefits constitute state aid sanctioned by law.

Regarding this sector, INDEP directly directed the deputies of the Assembly of Kosovo to comply with the competencies guaranteed by the Constitution, to request from the Ministry of Economic Development the publication of all documents related to the tendering process of TPP "Kosova e

To ensure that the construction process of TPP "Kosova e Re" is carried out in accordance with applicable laws, we urge MPs to commit to ensure transparency for this project, before the start of construction of the power plant, and protection of the public interest.

While, in terms of production in the field of democratic governance and gender equality, INDEP has made some videos. Among them, "International Women's Day, March 8"¹⁷ and "Representation of women in government in the public sector of the Republic of Kosovo"¹⁸.

Sustainable Development

Sustainable development is inevitably linked to Democratic Governance, but that this program pays close attention to advocating for sustainable policies that protect the environment, nature and living beings, advocating for Kosovo's energy transition, green energy, promotion of renewable resources, and finally the financial support of small NGO grants by INDEP through major projects funded by various donors.

INDEP continued to advocate for the creation of a sustainable energy sector by holding conferences on energy transition in Kosovo¹⁹, the way forward and the need for civil society to engage in dialogue with the Government on this topic. This conference brought together many actors from the energy sector, such as the Minister of Economic Development, other officials of this ministry, international and local representatives of civil society, students, and other stakeholders in this field. In addition to the energy transition, INDEP contributed activities with the topic of air quality in Kosovo, for which it received support from the diplomatic sector in Kosovo, such as the French Embassy. As part of this activity, INDEP provided research which reveals an assessment of where Kosovo stands with European Union air quality standards, which includes a set of concrete recommendations on what actions should be taken to meet the criteria of EU and facilitate the EU accession process.

¹⁹ Energy Transition - The Only Way for the Energy Sector in Kosovo <https://indep.info/sqs/tranzicioni-i-energjiise-e-vetmja-rruge-per-sektorin-e-energjiise-ne-kosove/>

Promoting renewable energy continues to be one of the main goals of INDEP. Therefore, to raise the voice of the importance of including these alternative sources in electricity generation, INDEP, in cooperation with other civil society organizations, held a round table where renewable energy capacities and their cost-effectiveness were discussed²⁰. The main discussion of this roundtable was related to Kosovo's progress so far in achieving the objectives of renewable energy, renewable energy opportunities (RES), the current investment climate, and their cost-effectiveness. The roundtable brought together key actors in the field, starting with the presence of the Minister of Economic Development, officials of this ministry, representatives of the private sector and civil society.

INDEP Part of NCEP

Kosovo is currently in the process of drafting the "National Energy and Climate Plan", the National Climate and Energy Strategy. INDEP is proud to announce that it is part of and representative of civil society in 3 working groups of this strategy, out of 6 in total. Because the works are still ongoing and are in the initial stages, nothing concrete can yet be made official as to what stage the Strategy has reached. Yet, this is the last time when Kosovo also has the opportunity to reach EU countries in terms of ecological standards. We recall that Kosovo has one of the highest levels of pollution in Europe, and during 2018, Pristina has ranked first as the city with the highest pollution in the world. This calls for drastic and emergency measures. Therefore, INDEP will be a strong advocate and collaborator for a greener Kosovo in the field of energy.

NECP is one of the largest projects of the Republic of Kosovo and as such, its effects will be crucial for the country. INDEP guarantees that it will push forward the green agenda at the national level and that it will be a constructive part of the work towards achieving a strategy that is as ecofriendly as possible.

“Kosovo Sustainable Development Week”

INDEP has been a co-organizer of the "Kosovo Sustainable Development Week"²¹, an event which was held throughout the week - from 16 to 22 September 2019. This annual week, this year has gathered more than 600 participants, among them many media and marks one of the media successes of INDEP. The topics addressed at the Conference were:

- environmental Protection,
- waste management,
- green energy,
- circular economy,
- urban planning,
- Ecofeminism and the Agenda 2030.

As such, INDEP considers it one of the most important activities which has been widely disseminated to the public and has given clear messages, provided recommendations and gathered audiences around the topic of sustainable development. In addition to panels, workshops, activities, the last day of this week was marked with "Car Free Day in Prishtina" in cooperation with the Municipality of Prishtina, an event which was covered by many media. KSWD is the only such format in Kosovo organized by 6 different parties of civil society, ministries and foreign donors. KSWD is organized by the Institute for Development Policy (INDEP), Ministry of Environment and Spatial Planning (MESP), Ministry of Economic Development (MED), European Union Office in Kosovo / EU Special Representative (EUOK / EUSR), German Society for Cooperation International GmbH on behalf of the German Government (GIZ), as well as the Balkan Green Foundation (BGF).

In the framework of the Week for Sustainable Development, an event that is happening on an annual basis already, INDEP, in addition to being the co-organizer of the week, held the event entitled '5 Speeches for Sustainability'. The event elaborated on the Sustainable Development Goals, specifically

- climate action,
- clean water sources and sewers,
- gender equality,
- qualitative education, and economic development.

Presentations were given by representatives of central institutions, representatives of international organizations and representatives of civil society. In addition to the aforementioned representatives, the event received high attention from students of the University of Prishtina.

The 2030 Agenda received a great deal of attention during 2019. INDEP research staff dedicated 9 articles on topics including the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) and the 2030 Agenda. As part of this work, a total of 7 municipal Sustainable Development plans were published. for the municipalities in question, such as Prishtina²², Deçan²³, Prizren²⁴, Podujeva²⁵, Drenas²⁶, Novobërdë²⁷ and Vushtrri²⁸. The works were accompanied by workshops with representatives of local institutions and representatives of civil society profiled in environmental issues. Furthermore, municipal plans were made available in English and Serbian for minority municipalities.

At Agenda 2030, the successful workshop was also the “Workshop with NGO and Media Representatives on SDG and Agenda 2030” which aimed to inform on how many larger municipalities in Kosovo have managed to embrace SDG- the. This workshop also provided an overview of the work to be done in the future so that municipal level institutions, whose level bears the greatest burden of implementing these objectives, can fully achieve the involvement of SDG in their municipal plans. This workshop bore fruit as it involved many members of the local level in Kosovo and also created a network between the media and them. The workshop included representatives of the municipalities of Prishtina, Prizren, Podujeva, Vushtrri, Novobërdë, Drenas and Deçan. The purpose of the workshops was to inform the participants about the Sustainable Development Objectives and the approach that INDEP will follow in drafting municipal plans for sustainable development. These workshops were organized within the project Sustainably Developing (Local) Governments for Sustainable Development Goals (# SDG4SDGs), a project implemented through a grant provided by The Deutsche Gesellschaft für Internationale Zusammenarbeit GmbH - GIZ, funded by the Government of the Federal Republic of Germany.

To further promote the SDG and the 2030 Agenda, in addition to municipal plans, INDEP published a paper reflecting Kosovo's position vis-hi-vis the 2030 Agenda²⁹, how internationally agreed obligations and targets have been met, and what concrete steps or actions Kosovo has taken. should take in the future. Since the elimination of problems and issues included in the 2030 Agenda is of great importance for current and future generations of all countries, Kosovo can follow the example of neighboring countries, such as Albania and Montenegro, which are leading the region. in CDD implementation efforts. INDEP has recommended that this be done if political rhetoric is set aside, and practices in implementing the agenda begin. The process towards implementing the 36 MDGs is challenging, but in many respects a rewarding experience for Kosovo society.

Awareness raising campaign about SDGs

In Kosovo, INDEP runs an awareness-raising campaign on sustainable development and the 2030 Agenda. Each month, 10 special monthly supplements, brochures, to raise awareness of the importance of SDG, published in ten issues, were published together with the media company Koha Group and in social networks^{30,31}. Knowing the ever-increasing importance of CSOs and their effect on improving the overall situation in the world, this campaign has been one of the main activities of INDEP for 2019. The campaign has had a significant effect on many activities and events. It has gathered many relevant actors, MPs, members of decision-making institutions, experts in various fields and citizens.

Energji e përbalueshme dhe e pastër

Pse është e rëndësishme?

Nga 17 objektivat ambicioze globale të cilat bota synon të përbushë deri më vitin 2030, energjia e pastër luajti rol të rëndësishëm në arritjen e këtyre qëllimeve në përgjithësi dhe zhvillimin e çdo kombi dhe ekonomie. Objektiva e zhvillimit të qëndrueshëm 7, në veçanti kërkon sigurimin e qasjes në energji të përbalueshme, të sigurt, të qëndrueshme dhe moderne për të gjithë. Energjia është në qendër të pothuajse çdo sfide: vendet e punës, siguria, ndryshimet klimatike, prodhimi i ushqimit etj. Qasja në energji për të gjitha këto është thelbësore. Në Kosovë, me shifrë se 92% e energjisë elektrike prodhohet nga djegia e lëndëve fosile, kjo ndikon edhe në ndotjen e ajrit sidomos gjatë kohës së dimrit ku një pjesë e madhe e njerëzve ngrohen me energji elektrike. Në Kosovë shpenzimi më i madh i energjisë bëhet në arsimin si dhe për ngrohje. Energjia e pastër është opion në rritje për prodhim të energjisë elektrike, reduktimin e ndotjes së ajrit dhe uljen e emisioneve të dioksidit të karbonit. Energjia është kontribuesi dominues në ndryshimet klimatike, duke përbërë rreth 60% të totalit të shkarkimeve globale të gazrave sërre. Qasja në energji elektrike në vendet e varfra ka filluar të përshpejtohet, eficientia e energjisë vazhdon të përmirësohet dhe energjia e ripërtëritshme po jep përfitime mbresëlënëse.

Si përfaqësuesit e zgjedhur, parlamentarë kanë një rol kritik për të çuar përpara zhvillimin e përqendruar të njerëz që është reflektues dhe i përgjigjet nevojave të elektoratit. Kohët e fundit, ka pasur njohje në rritje të rëndësise së angazhimit të parlamentarëve në përpjekjet për të promovuar rritjen gjithëpërfshirëse dhe sensitive karshi mjedisit si dhe zhvillimin e qëndrueshëm.

Përmes mandatit të tyre në bërjen e ligjeve dhe mbikëqyrjen e politikave dhe programeve të qeverisë, miratimit dhe shqyrtimit e buxhetit të qeverisë dhe përfaqësimin e pikëpamjeve të zgjedhësve të tyre, parlamentarët janë partnerë të vlefshëm në sigurimin e qeverisjes së përgjegjshme, gjithëpërfshirëse, pjesëmarrëse dhe transparente që është e nevojshme për të arritur një zhvillim të qëndrueshëm për të gjithë.

In addition to these objectives, INDEP also advocated for the protection of endangered animals in Kosovo³², as a topic that is rarely discussed but that holds great importance for a sustainable environmental development. The various economic activities of the people over the years have caused an imbalance in nature. In order to improve the situation of high risk animals for extinction, INDEP recommended that central institutions should work on creating a database of endangered species in Kosovo and complete the biodiversity inventory in Kosovo, to be done monitoring of the Law on Nature Protection, as well as to have mutual cooperation between central and local institutions.

As part of the Sustainable Development program and our efforts to create a cleaner environment, INDEP continues to have the practice of marking international days with different themes. For Environment Day, INDEP raised its voice regarding environmental degradation and air pollution as a healthy environment is a fundamental human right. Therefore, INDEP called on central and local institutions to act to improve air quality and protect human health by changing behavior and implementing sustainable development policies and practices.

During 2019, INDEP supported the new conference concept called 'brunch'. At the end of the year, following the advocacy on sustainable development, we organized SDG Brunch which discussed air pollution in Kosovo. The events were co-organized with the United Nations Team in Kosovo (UNKT) and brought together representatives of international organizations such as UNDP, UN, UNMIK, UNICEF and WHO, representatives of local institutions such as the National Institute of Public Health, the Agency for Air Navigation Services, etc. ., representatives of civil society, media and citizens. The event opened with the launch of an awareness campaign and video on air pollution in Kosovo³³, which included awareness messages from familiar faces to the public, ordinary citizens and marginalized groups.

³³ Air Pollution in Kosovo <https://www.facebook.com/252697314788253/videos/547119035860771/>

Air quality in Kosovo continues to have a high level of pollution. INDEP over the years advocates for a clean environment, but especially for clean air. During the first part of 2019, when the air quality was very harmful, INDEP published the work on air in Kosovo and European standards on the level of its purity³⁴. This research provides an assessment of where Kosovo stands in relation to European Union air quality standards. This research is complemented by a series of concrete recommendations on what actions should be taken to meet EU criteria and facilitate the EU accession process. These recommendations include: monitoring of domestic heating, emissions from transport, energy sector, heavy industry and agricultural sector, in addition to public awareness of air quality.

The energy sector remains one of the main pillars to which INDEP contributes over the years. In this regard, during 2019, INDEP analyzed issues such as: establishing a public service obligation for security of supply, hydropower plants in Kosovo: problems and their real potential, implementation of Law No. 05 / L-085 on Electricity, report of Energy Regulatory Office for 2018, and ERO's consultative report on the solar photovoltaic support mechanism for RES targets (20 MW).

In the course of sustainable development, INDEP has organized a workshop with MPs and staff of the Assembly of Kosovo on "The Role of the Assembly in Meeting the Sustainable Development Objectives." The workshop was attended by MPs from the Assembly of Kosovo and the Assembly of Albania, the civilian staff of the assembly, as well as the donor community. It should be emphasized that the role of the Assembly is essential in creating a general political will. The Assembly, respectively the deputies and the civilian staff, are important agents involved in the implementation of Agenda 2030 and the SDGs. In this regard, INDEP is committed to working closely with all parties, including the central and local level to see the opportunities and capacities we have to implement the 2030 Agenda.

Among the Climate Change Trainings / Workshops, INDEP evaluates the Regional Workshop “Youth Awareness on the Pressure of Climate Change and Sustainability Issues” which gathered 30 young people from 3 different countries in the region which aimed to increase knowledge and stimulate discussion and critical thinking among youth in the region about the risks of climate change and environmental issues in general in the Western Balkan countries.

In the field of sustainable development, during 2019 INDEP has awarded 20 grants. 17 small grants and 3 medium grants were awarded within the project "Empower - Engage - Build Ownership"³⁵ for 20 different organizations. The winning projects are focused on the following points:

- Environment protection,
- Green energy and the circular economy and
- Improving the situation on the ground.

³⁵ “Empower – Engage – Build Ownership” project is implemented in collaboration with BGF and is funded by European Union Office in Kosovo

In the framework of the EEBO project and the call for grants, INDEP has also held 11 info sessions related to grants for various municipalities in Kosovo. The infusions were kept by Mrs. Lerta Hollaj, INDEP.

A total of 151 applications were received in the call for this grant, marking this as one of the most successful calls in the field of sustainable development in civil society in Kosovo. Some of the beneficiaries of these grants, among others, were Dokufest with the project for solar cinema, AYA "Pjetër Bogdani" with the project for the promotion of cycling in Kosovo, GAIA Kosovo, Sbunker, the Group for Legal and Political Studies, etc.

The amount of the grants awarded to these organizations ranged from 4,500 to 4,900 euros for each small grant and up to 14,900 euros for medium grants, bringing the total grants awarded to approximately 82,000 euros. INDEP will continue with grant schemes as in this form it substantially helps in the development of the civil society sector and consequently contributes indirectly to the improvement of citizenship in Kosovo. This grant scheme has continued in 2020, in the same format.

Regional Cooperation

One of the main pillars of INDEP is Regional Cooperation. Therefore, like every other year, this year INDEP was internationally represented in various high-level conferences, as one of the most efficient forms of networking, presentation of work on international podiums and as coordination of activities with INDEP's international partners towards development. democratic, sustainable and inclusive for our country and together with the countries of the region.

Among INDEP's representations in the international sphere are the participation in the "5th European Forum on Local Governance", in Krakow, Poland. The European Forum on Local Government brought together dozens of mayors, municipal associations, representatives of businesses and civil society to discuss various topics on the development of local government in order to improve the lives of citizens and their connectivity and mobility. INDEP was represented by Mr. Source Ejupi and Mr. Dardan Abazi.

INDEP was also an integral part of the Kosovar delegation at The Open World Leadership Center, an agency operating within the United States Congress. During the first days of his stay in America, the Kosovar delegation had the opportunity to meet with members of Congress in Washington DC, including the office of the US Congressman, Mr. Chris Stewart, who represents Utah Third County. In addition to these meetings, the Kosovar delegation learned about Utah's experience in integrating renewable energy into electricity supply. The Open World Leadership Center program has so far managed to gather about 28,000 participants. INDEP was represented by Mr. Dardan Abazi.

organizations in a conversation about the future of energy in Southeast Europe. The topic of the forum for 2019 was "Embracing a Decarbonized Energy Future". The forum focused on finding ways to promote investments in green energy and removal of polluting energy as ways to promote energy transition, a topic which also coincides with the promotion of policies aimed at sustainable development, where economic development focuses on protection of the environment and enhancing the quality of life of citizens that INDEP promotes. INDEP was represented by Ms. Leartha Hollaj, z. Dardan Abazi, z. Amir Kozmaqi and Mrs. Dora Musa.

In the field of economics, INDEP also participated in the "Economic Forum" in Krynica, Poland. This was the XXIX Economic Forum, this annual conference which gathered nearly 4,500 participants, including political leaders, economic actors and civil society representatives from 60 countries. The Executive Director of INDEP, Mr. Burim Ejupi, was a speaker in two of the most important panels of this event. In the first panel on "Sustainable Cities = Sustainable Future", Mr. Ejupi spoke about advocating for sustainable development policies with special emphasis on urban planning, transport and air pollution control policies. In the second panel, "Modern Climate Policy and Energy Self-Sufficiency in the Countries of the Region", Mr. Ejupi spoke about the role of civil society in Kosovo in opposing the policies of the past and advancing the development of the energy sector by promoting renewable energy, efficiency and reducing emissions harmful to the environment and climate.

In the field of environment, specifically in climate change and coordination with democracy, INDEP participated in the "Congress of Young Europeans" on "How to fight for Climate and Democracy?".

Mrs. Fatbardha Restelica represented INDEP at this conference held in Marseille, France. This congress brought together important actors in areas such as climate and democracy, such as members of the European Parliament from the Netherlands, environmental activists from France, women's rights and family planning organizations from Poland, election campaign managers (specifically managers of the mayor of Istanbul , Turkey), as well as initiators of environmental campaigns such as Fridays for Future from the Czech Republic. In addition to the discussion panels, the congress also held various workshops, with lecturers from powerful organizations such as Europeans Green, the Executive Committee of the European Green Youth Federation, and Bündnis 90 / Die Grünen. The congress was attended by about 60 participants from all European countries, including Kosovo.

As a local partner in Kosovo of the Southeast Europe Energy Transition Network, INDEP participated in the Conference organized in Brussels, on the topic "Achieving Carbon Neutralization in Southeast Europe: Obstacles, Opportunities and Steps Further", organized by SE3T.net. SE3T.net is a regional network of independent organizations focusing on the energy transition in Southeast Europe. The mission of this network is to contribute to the absorption of economic, technical and relevant policy potential towards the transition leading to a sustainable future.

INDEP contributes to this network through analysis. INDEP representatives at this conference were Mr. Burim Ejupi and Mrs. Learta Hollaj.

INDEP also had media representations within the country. INDEP staff in 2019 had at their disposal 11 people, who as part of civil society have been part of the media and have expressed the views of INDEP. The area in which INDEP has had the most frequent media appearances has been the field of energy, namely advocacy against the construction of the Coal Power Plant "Kosova e Re", for which many media have contacted INDEP to get opinions in the capacity of energy experts. INDEP during 2019 has been contacted by many media, such as television, newspapers and portals for their views, reactions, support given or objections to various processes that have occurred during the year we left behind in Kosovo. With this, INDEP has secured a reputation as a think-tank, credible organization and that its views are supported by research, figures, publications and reports.

As an INDEP media presentation, INDEP staff has had 13 interviews on our televisions, but not only. In identified numbers, INDEP during 2019 has been cited 20 times. Among the most interviewed by INDEP from the media are Mr. Dardan Abazi, Senior Researcher and Director of Research at INDEP and Ms. Learta Hollaj, former Operations Manager at INDEP. These two, together with the executive director of INDEP, Mr. Burim Ejupi have been the most frequent representatives of INDEP in the media. The above, in addition to holding the main portfolios of INDEP, are also active and very cooperative with other civil society organizations in Kosovo and often hold joint appearances and coordinate feedback and advocacy with other organizations.

Among the media appearances in 2019, INDEP has organized a live press conference on the occasion of World Energy Day entitled "Priorities of the New Government of Kosovo". In this conference, Learta Hollaj and Dardan Abazi presented the findings of three papers drafted by INDEP which give the main recommendations in the field of energy transition, promotion of small-scale renewable resource capacities and energy security.

INDEP 2020

INDEP will continue its work in 2020, focusing on the goal of providing the fairest and most beneficial policies for the citizens of Kosovo, always through close cooperation with the main actors of the country, institutions, independent agencies, the Assembly, the deputies of the Assembly, the ministerial cabinet, and up to the highest executive instance, the prime minister. As part of civil society, but maintaining the identity of the think-tank, INDEP believes that only cooperation between all stakeholders of our society, can lead to the positive changes and improvements needed for Kosovo.

See the attached annexes below to see the Index List of Publications and the Index Response List for 2019, as the two main areas in which INDEP work, respectively, unfolds and tends to make a positive impact. Donors

In 2019, INDEP was supported by:

The European Union Office in Kosovo continues to assist Kosovo through financial means this year as well. The EU continues to influence good EU practices in Kosovo, and INDEP often cites the EU as a point of reference. During the year, the EU funded two major INDEP projects, "Promoting Sustainable Organizational Development of CSOs in Kosovo" which is implemented in cooperation with FIQ, and "Empower - Engage - Build Ownership" which is implemented in collaboration with BGF.

The Rockefeller Brothers Fund - RBF is one of the most charitable foundations in the world. For the year, RBF finances many organizations with the sole purpose of social change which brings about a fairer, more stable and peaceful world. INDEP has an institutional grant from RBF as well, as a think-tank that contributes positively to Kosovo.

The United States Agency for International Development (USAID) Mission in Kosovo focuses on economic growth, democracy, and governance. Their goal is to help achieve security, prosperity, and sustainable stability. During 2019, USAID supported INDEP in the project "Women in managerial positions in the public sector - Facilitating the transformation from a quantitative to a qualitative approach".

As part of this process, GIZ funds programs that grow the economy, improve the education system, build a decentralized public administration, and reduce youth unemployment as well. INDEP established partnerships with GIZ in projects last year, specifically "Sustainable (Local) Governments for Sustainable Development Goals # SDG4SDGs". This partnership established with GIZ continues in 2020 with the projects that are being implemented now.

United Nations Development Program - UNDP holds as its primary goal the eradication of poverty in the context of sustainable development, including the pursuit of the Millennium Development Goals, and the promotion of the fundamental principles of the United Nations. The UNDP program in Kosovo addresses challenges and assists through three areas of practice: Democratic Governance, Inclusive Growth and Policy Research, Gender and Communication, which are almost entirely in line with INDEP program areas. INDEP and UNDP have collaborated in 2019 in several activities, including the MDD Brunch, an activity which is being implemented for the first time in Kosovo.

INDEP for the first time in 2019 has decided to be included in the field of academia. In order to link the scope of INDEP with this goal, INDEP has cooperated with the Embassy of Switzerland in the Republic of Kosovo in the project 'A brief guide to the Swiss constitution'. The partnership established with the Swiss Embassy is confident that it will continue in the coming years as the project has been very successful.

The United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization - UNESCO is the world's leading organization in the field of education, science and culture. Within the projects that this organization finances in Kosovo, INDEP has cooperated with UNESCO in the field of media education. This project is still going on in 2020, but marks one of the biggest successes of INDEP for 2019. The project for MIL Clicks has received a lot of attention and has established a very correct cooperation between INDEP and UNESCO.
